To: The Joint Federal Task Force on Antisemitism

Re: Anti-Defamation League Concealing Muslim Antisemitism

Dear Task Force Members:

I want to commend you on your determination and fortitude in exposing and combating the current epidemic of antisemitism that is plaguing our nation. Your “first priority” efforts to “root out antisemitic harassment and intimidation in academia and on college campuses,” is welcome and appreciated by Jews and rational people across the country.

Recently, I had publicly documented efforts by the Anti-Defamation League (ADL) to conceal, and purge, their own survey data revealing disproportionate “extreme Muslim antisemitism” in Western Europe, and the U.S. Here are depictions of the data ADL has suppressed:

6.3-Fold Greater Percentage of U.S. Muslims vs. Non-Muslims, Harboring Extreme Antisemitism
(2017 ADL Data Never Made Public by ADL)

In 2017, the Anti-Defamation League (ADL) commissioned a survey on antisemitism in the United States. Anzalone Liszt Grove conducted the survey in January and February of that year with a representative sample of the American general population of 3600 participants and a sample of American Muslims of 805 participants. The margin of error for the U.S. general population was 1.6%, and the margin of error for the U.S. Muslim population was 3%.

The ADL, who first and foremost exists to monitor, document and educate the public about antisemitism, and should be an ally in efforts to defeat anti-Jewish sentiment, has engaged in a deliberate cover-up to conceal and purge their own scientific findings. Moreover, independent data, including data from an expansive Brandeis University national U.S. study of campus antisemitism, validate the concealed ADL findings. The Brandeis investigators found that Muslim students were 2.6-fold more likely to harbor extreme antisemitism—defined as shared animus toward Israel, and Jews—relative to Christian students.

The ADL's apparent self-censorship reflects the corrosive malady of "Islamophobia phobia," the fear of being labeled with unwarranted, scurrilous charges of "Islamophobia" for simply reporting facts – information about a surplus rate of Muslim antisemitism.

It is my fear that the ADL is more concerned about appeasing the Muslim community, as well as Progressive politicians and "woke" culture, than ridding the country – the world, of antisemitism.

I urge the Joint Federal Task Force on Antisemitism to continue its well justified and crucial investigations, undeterred by any future predictable, but false, allegations of "Islamophobia," and demand the ADL provide you with their scientific data regarding all antisemitism.

Sincerely,

Andrew G. Bostom, MD, MS
